Preferred Citation

[Identification of item], Islamic Fundamentalism Collection, [Box no.], Hoover Institution Archives.

Acquisition Information

The collection started with a three-year project, August 1995 to August 1998, to document Islamic fundamentalism around the world. The bulk of the material in boxes 1-19 represents collecting that occurred in the field and over the Internet during this period. Although this specific project formally ended in August 1998, collecting is ongoing and the collection continues to grow.

Accruals

Materials may have been added to the collection since this finding aid was prepared. To determine if this has occurred, find the collection in Stanford University's online catalog Socrates at <http://library.stanford.edu/webcat>. Materials have been added to the collection if the number of boxes listed in Socrates is larger than the number of boxes listed in this finding aid.

Scope and Content of Collection

The collection relates to political aspects of Islam in the Middle East and elsewhere. It contains printouts of electronic bulletins and websites, serial issues, pamphlets, other printed matter, sound recordings, and video tapes. The materials are primarily in Arabic and Persian.

The collection started with a three-year project, August 1995 to August 1998, to document Islamic fundamentalism around the world. The bulk of the material in boxes 1-19 represents collecting that occurred in the field and over the Internet during this period. Although this specific project formally ended in August 1998, collecting is ongoing and the collection continues to grow.

Lists of sound recordings and videorecordings in this collection may be found in boxes 104-105.
